Nervousness yf the shorts was increased by the beltef that Saturday's break was due principally to bear rail.

By noon the entire list was higher, with gains running up to 3 points in the case of those Pacific and Canadian Pacific During the later half of the day trading grew dull and prices eased off gradually from the top. Of influence in the improvement was the belief that the Interstate Commerce Commission's ruling in the freight rate case on Saturday had received too much emphasis as a best factor. Although the commission refused to requent the old freight rate case in the petition of the Vastern reads for a per cent advance, the inquiry to be made by the commission will ensure the roads to present their case.

President Wilson's message to Congress of the currency question had perceptible influence on the market. This was probably during the fact that delivery of the message was precised by subilication of the currency bill itself. It is in the detailed plan set forth to the bill that Wall Street's chief interest lies.

The opening was steady at a decline of 508 opints. Cables were not up to expectations and the weather map was called faviorable rain being reported in Arkansas, where claims of drought have been made. Soon after the call there was a recovery, divided by the put July 3 points over Saturday's close and the new crops within 2 points of the day. Selling increased around the middle of the morning session, being stimulated by the port that a well-known private crop reporting bureau was out with condition agures of 85.2 per cent against its own last figures of 85.2 per cent against its own last figures of 85.2 per cent against its own last figures of 85.7. This selling put the new crop 12 points under Saturday's final figures. July did not follow the decline. Profit-taking on short cutten and a little fresh long buying steaded the market around noon and brought about a nartial recovery, but in the afternoon liquidation and the plus correction of 1.969 hales in the New York stock put prices to the lowest levels again. The close was steady at a net loss of 3518 points. Spot cetton quiet and unchanged midding 12.946, sales on the spot 10 bales and 15 to arrive. Cotton futures closed, January, 11.51. Recent Actions of Market Too Changeable for Excitable Persons.

Changeable for Excitable

Persons.

By Broadan Wall.

New York, June 23.—Stocks opened firm today, grew strong and closed steady on a reaction from the high prices.

Wall Street is certainly no place for those of an excitable temperament. Although the Street is somewhat accustomed to a reversal of form between the close one day and the opening the next, it was a new sensation to find the Interstate Commerce Commission turned right-about-face on a ratte decision between 19 A. M. and 3 P. M. on a Saturday. There is a well-defined feeling in the financial district that some one in Washington had one eye on the stock market effect of news. If this is not true, it was a remarkable coincident that the refusal to grant consideration of an increase in rates to the railroads should have been announced just as the market opened on Saturday, and the finacial community should not be aware of the change of sentiment on the part of the committee until after the market closed. President Wilson's currency message did not produce any profound respect for the measure. As the Street reads it, those who have not money are in the future to obtain accommodation from those who have, by the aid of the government, at rates to be arbitrarily fixed by a board that may be political, but must not be financial. It is an old-fashloned theory among bankers that lenders should have the choice of borrowers, the selection of the collateral and the determination of risk and profit, and it is extremely doubtful if lawmakers can change this procedure by the enactment of new laws against the owners or holders of funds. To use the expression of a banker, water does not flow up hill as yet, and Secretary McAdoo with his deposit of $10,000,000 outside of New York. This amounted to about $41,000,000 last week.

There was a sharp recovery in the active shares with Union Pacific crossing 144, Reading above 157 and Lehigh Valley at 150. Great Northern preferred rose over a point and St. Paul gained 129. Canadian Pacific advanced sharply on buying from Lond

American Can was active at advancing prices on the expectation that earnings shortly to be made public will justify the officials in paying the back dividends on the preferred, and later in the year placing the common shares on a permanent dividend basis. The weather news from the corn and wheat belts was of a favorable nature. Baltimore and Ohio showed a gross increase in earnings for May of $114.61, but a decrease in earnings for May of $10.00 for the process of the corn of $47.331.

Money was in full supply and loans were renewed at 2 per cent with no changes in lime rates.
